

30.4.2012 – A small exhibition of Ikebana-Ohara at the Park of Paleo Psychiko:

Every year Greece welcomes spring with flowers .

May 1st is a national holiday and celebrations take place all over the country.

The Municipality of Paleo Psychiko in Athens organized the feast “Music, Dance and Flowers” in one of the beautiful parks of the region. We have been invited to participate with a small Ikebana exhibition. It was a very well organized activity where people were invited to come together, taste greek specialities and drinks as well as enjoy the cheerful evening with music and dances.

Our thanks to the Municipality of Paleo Psychiko for this wonderful activity and also to:

The ladies who offered pots of spring flowers to the public.

The Greek Chapter members for their Ikebana-Ohara arrangements.

Mr. Christos Soupos who organized a most successful evening.

Mrs Sonia Anastassiadou who invited the dancers of the Greek Lyceum.

Mrs Philo Samaropoulou for her beautiful Ikebana-Ohara arrangement

The dancers of the Greek Lyceum and the orchestra.

The gayful public who sang and danced....non stop!
